

MOUNTAIN SURVIVAL

Mountain Survival is the ultimate business adventure and an incredible opportunity to mix outdoor fun into a business context.

DETAILS

Groups will complete a series of stations, containing a mix of mental and physical challenges, to earn survival points. Successful teams will plan, communicate, cooperate, develop leaders, assess risks, and solve complex problems throughout the adventure. The groups with the most survival points will earn survival awards.

LOCATIONS:

- Sundance Resort
- Soldier Hollow
- Deer Valley Resort
- Utah Olympic Park
- Park City Mountain
- SnowBasin
- Snowbird
- Let us build a course for you!

GROUP SIZE: 12-200

TEAM SIZE: 10

LENGTH: 2-3 HOURS

STATIONS

Build a Shelter - Using the equipment provided, natural resources and your imagination, build a temporary shelter/snow cave large enough to protect 5 members of the team from the elements. (May be substituted with tipi or expedition tent.)

Search & Rescue - Teams will learn how to use a modern avalanche beacon and/or GPS unit to find hidden targets in the wilderness.

Tyrolean Traverse - Teams learn how to set up a Tyrolean Traverse and safely cross a stream on an overhead zip line with helmets, harnesses, and a rope.

Fire & Water - Fire making is an essential survival skill. Teams learn how to start a fire without any man-made materials and purify water.

M*A*S*H/First Aid - Teams are given a survival scenario: a teammate has just broken a leg. Each team must designate someone to be injured and treat the injury appropriately using the first aid kit. Teams must then transport the injured victim to the basecamp checkpoint.

At Park City Teamworks, we guide business teams on wilderness adventures to improve performance and encourage organizational change.

The outdoor adventures you experience will allow you to explore new boundaries and unleash your team's creativity. We are confident your growth solutions lie within your team and can be released when you experience any of our business adventures.
